

Dave Hart

Bio:

David Hart is the manager of CISL's User Services Section, where he handles allocations for CISL's high-performance computing systems and oversees the CISL Help Desk and Consulting Services Groups. David is also currently the Resource Allocations Service director for the National Science Foundation-supported XSEDE program, where he oversees the allocations process and development of the supporting accounting and allocations software services. His professional and research interests include metrics for measuring the performance and impact of cyberinfrastructure systems and activities.