

Dave Norton

Bio:

Dave Norton is an applications engineer with Nvidia, working on PGI compilers and tools. He has been working for PGI in one fashion or another for over 20 years. Dave works with users on compiler correctness and performance issues and in helping users port codes to GPUs with OpenACC and CUDA Fortran. Dave did his undergraduate and graduate work at The Pennsylvania State University and then went to work at the Naval Research Laboratory. After NRL Dave work for Digital, and a several startups before starting his own consulting company which he ran for 15 years. Dave joined PGI as an employee the year before the company was acquired by Nvidia. Since the last iCAS meeting, Dave has run a dozen or so marathons, including LA, Big Sur, New York, Chicago, two Boston's.