

Dr. Richard Graham

Bio:

Dr. Richard Graham is an Architect at Mellanox Technologies, Inc. His primary focus is on High Performance Computing (HPC), working on HPC communication architecture, Mellanox OFED and forward looking HPC technologies. Prior to moving to Mellanox, Rich spent thirteen years at Los Alamos National Laboratory and Oak Ridge National Laboratory, in computer science technical and administrative roles, with a technical focus on communication libraries and application analysis tools. He is cofounder of the Open MPI collaboration, was chairman of the MPI 3.0 standardization efforts.